

THE MONSTER ISN'T
UNDER THE BED.
IT'S IN THE FRIDGE.

People with eating disorders often distort the size of their food, so they'll eat less. They distort the size of their body, so thin looks fat. Which yields a fact that isn't distorted at all – without treatment, many won't survive. But to read about those who have, go to myneda.org

